

2009

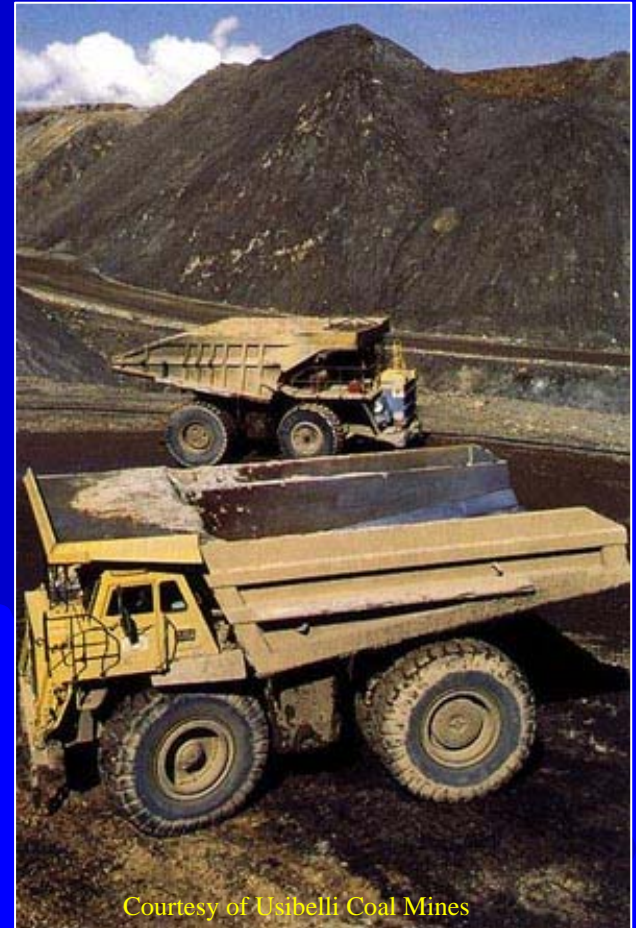

ALASKA!

A Frontier for Mineral
Exploration!

A presentation sponsored by the State of Alaska, Department of Community and Economic Development and the Alaska Miners Association

Alaska

Regulatory and political stability combined with a strong geologic endowment make Alaska a good place to invest!

Courtesy of Usibelli Coal Mines

Why Alaska?

- Alaska is largely unexplored
- It's elephant country (Red Dog, Ft. Knox, Greens Creek, Donlin Creek, Pogo, Kensington, Pebble Copper, Kennicott)
- 298,600 sq. miles available to mineral entry
 - An area as large as Chile and 2.7X the size of Nevada
 - Proactive administration