

Line of Business / Alaska NAICS Code

The Division of Corporations, Business and Professional Licensing uses the North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) to determine Lines of Business. You must choose a Line of Business/NAICS code for your business in order to receive a business license in the state of Alaska.

You can view and print the Lines of Business Activities / Alaska NAICS Codes at the link below:

The first two digits of the NAICS code determine the Line of Business; the following four digits describe the activities within the Line of Business. Choose the NAICS code that best describes your Line of Business and business activities. You may choose a secondary NAICS code but it must fall under the same Line of Business as your primary NAICS code.

If your business works in more than one Line of Business, you will need more than one business license.

The Line of Business assigned to a business license cannot be changed. To change your line of business you must purchase a new business license.

Many of the codes listed may require a professional license prior to obtaining a business license. Lines of Business that require a professional license are in bold in the NAICS list.
