Owners of Alaska Mint named 2004 Small Business Persons of the Year

Michael and Michele Robuck, co-owners of Alaska Mint were named 2004 Alaska Small Business Persons of the Year on April 26, 2004, by the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Alaska Mint started as a business on Jan. 1, 1991 and is currently located at 429 W. Fourth Ave. The company obtains gold and silver blank coins from a refinery in Idaho and creates original gold and silver medallions by using hydraulic presses. The images used come from hand-drawn art or photographs and predominantly feature Alaskan animals and scenery.

Medallions are priced between $5 and $2,000 and the store also supplies watches, money clips, jewelry, and loose gold nuggets.

Alaska Salmon Leather Company

Congratulations to Jeff Barnhart who was featured in an Alaska Magazine article for his innovative fish leather wallets. Barnhart's background of tanning cow hides paired with his studies of salmon skins as a biologist lead him to the realization that a salmon hide can make excellent leather.

It is a 75-step process to turn a fish skin into a piece of leather but each piece is unique due to the different textures and patterns of the fish hides.

Barnhart's line of products include Salmon, Halibut and Snapper leather billfolds, checkbooks covers, and more.

A new Alaska products display has been installed at the Alaska Public Lands Information Center in Tok. The display features the work of eleven interior Alaska permit holders, and includes brochures that visitors can take with them to find the products on their travels around Alaska.
